PROF. (DR.) DEEPAK BHIKAJI MANE

Editor-in-Chief, IJEMS

I wish to start with huge Congratulations to all the scholars and contributors for being part of this journal which published its first Issue on 2012. YES, On the Occasion of completion of a decade on behalf of our Editorial team, I congratulate everyone.

The journey started with the concept to provide effective and valuable research papers to the academicians and give free and original publication platform to researchers. We started with free publication under The University Academics.

On behalf of the whole Editorial team I assure the process of free publication in future also and with all sincere effort to present original and valuable research papers and articles to the academicians and scholars. Our journal is completely free and we claim no kind of favor in any case and form from any individual whether a manuscript contributor or a subscriber.

The volume 11th shows our consistency and effort for the ethics and publication codes to be followed always. We are still to improve and we are completely devoted to improve the originality and value of our manuscript through proper review and acceptance procedure.

I would like to thank Prof. Alexi, USA and Prof. N S Deol, India for the support and guidance to run this journal with all ethics and codes. We followed the nonpayment and free of cost for any kind of submission and will never be on the track to look for the profit of any kind. I am Thankful to every reader and contributor for showing faith in us. IJEMS will always be for your support and assistance following all the ethical codes and proper publication procedures.

We have collectively decided to bring some changes in the Editorial Board with change/addition of Editors and Referees for bringing upliftment and more transparency in selecting deserving papers. We have rejected many papers because of the rejections from the reviewers but now we are looking for the policy to bring those papers to the editors also to give a chance to make possible changes through the Author(s) as directed by the reviewers. This leads to improve the learning mechanism in the new research scholars.

I one again on behalf of the whole team Congratulate everyone on completion of Decade of Publication with us.

Regards
