PROF. (DR.) DEEPAK BHIKAJI MANE

Editor-in-Chief, IJEMS

My association with the research and Journal is long enough to start my own editorial ship in this journal. I have been in the process of article reviews and editing since long. The Journey with IJEMS is special and I have learned a lot from the editorial part of this journal. We started this journal on 2012 along with Government University teachers with the solo purpose of giving opportunity to the scholars and researchers to have quality research published with no charges or amount in any form.

This issue involves five articles finally accepted and published after proper review process wherein total papers received were nine in number and one were rejected by the editorial team on the first stance because of non relative with the areas of the journal. Two manuscripts were reported to have more than the required plagiarism than the Journal's plagiarism and ethics policy. One paper sent to reviewers as per the OJS policy, received modification and some recommendations with the comment of amendments on written tables for better understanding.

The University Academics has given complete authority to the authors to contact the Editors of this journal in any capacity to learn about the required changes in the manuscript if they want to learn and give their research more quality.

I am glad to be part of this journal which works free of cost and is run by Teaching Faculty of Various Government Universities.

Please accept my regards and Good wishes to authors

Regards
